Two Special Agents of the San Francisco Office are personally acquainted with the Subject and are aware that [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] They have described him as a wealthy man who is an avid collector. He is primarily interested at the present time in the collecting of rare and unusual guns and swords. His trip this past spring was for the purpose of obtaining unique guns and swords. He is in possession of an imposing collection of swords. He was at one time co-owner of the Gold Rush Gun Shop in San Francisco, which is out of business at this time. These Agents have said that BUXTON has expressed no political sympathies with any radical or communist movements. BUXTON is not felt likely to have any sympathy with the Black Panther Party. The only thing he would have in common with [REDACTED] [REDACTED] would be that they are both against registration of firearms.

BUXTON is described as a wealthy, eccentric, who would probably be a poor source of information because of erratic and impulsive behavior.

Since BUXTON's [REDACTED] San Francisco, as reported by [REDACTED] was apparently [REDACTED] no additional investigation is being conducted and no interview is contemplated at this time.

A photograph of BUXTON was obtained from the files of the DMV and is being placed in the San Francisco file.
